Huge charity run for E Lancs

By DAVD WATKINSON

EAST Lancashire is to host a huge fundraising fun run this summer with 5,000 people expected to join in.

The annual event, named the Pennine Lancashire 10K, is expected to raise up to £300,000 for local charities in its first year and will be one of the biggest such events in the North West.

It has been organised by Run For All, a charity set up in memory of fundraiser Jane Tomlinson, who raised thousands of pounds in running challenges while fighting cancer. The Citizen's sister paper, The Lancashire Telegraph is a partner in the event.

The Pennine Lancashire 10K, which will follow a route through Blackburn town centre from Witton Park, is the first of its kind in Lancashire and follows three other successful events organised by Run For All in Leeds, Hull and York.

And in future years it is hoped to hold the run in other towns across East Lancashire.

Jane's husband Mike Tomlinson, who runs the charity, said he hoped the people of East Lancashire would get behind the event, which takes place at 9.30am on Sunday, July 11.

And he said that he could think of 'nowhere better' to hold a fundraising race in Jane's memory.

He said: "The run takes place on the morning of World Cup Final day, which could make for a fantastic atmosphere.

"It will be a really fun day out for everyone who takes part and watches. It is not about being the fastest around the course, but doing your best and being healthy.

"That was everything that Jane stood for. She was someone who inspired people and that is what we want this event to do.

"Jane used to love coming to East Lancashire and that is why we've picked this area for the next run.

"We had friends in Nelson, Burnley and Blackburn and some of my favourite memories of my life with Jane are walks in East Lancashire."

He said that East Lancs, Pendleside and Rossendale Hospices have been signed up as partner charities for the run along with the Jane Tomlinson Appeal, the Christie Hospital and Coco, a charity run by former Olympian Steve Cram.

But people can raise money for other charities if they wish. There will be places for 5,000 entrants of all abilities, from the age of 15 upwards.

Mr Tomlinson, who is a Burnley FC supporter and grew up in Settle, said that so far more than £2million has been raised in Jane's name.

Alastair Campbell, who is supporting the event, said: "It is fantastic that Jane's family are now able to extend her fundraising legacy into Pennine Lancashire with the launch of a Run For All 10K in the area."

SUPER HEROES: The late Jane Tomlinson with her husband Mike after she completed the London Triathlon back in 2004

100 years of giving aid to top scholars

LEGACY: Burnley Mechanics, where Stocks Massey gave his name to a lecture series

A WELL-known bequest for Burnley scholars, which has laid the foundations for dozens of fledgling careers, is set to celebrate its centenary.

For 100 years the generosity of Edward Stocks Massey has seen dozens of deserving students reach loftier goals, thanks to cash help from the fund set up in his name.

Stocks Massey, who also lent his name to a popular lecture series at Burnley Mechanics, died in 1909.

He had no children but left a £135,000 legacy, worth more than £1million in today's money, dedicated to the betterment of people from Burnley.

A Burnley council spokesman said: "The grant is available to individuals and organisations in the town for education, the advancement of science, learning music and other arts within the borough.

"There are also two higher education student support scholarships, available each year, to assist the young people of Burnley who have gone into further education in the borough, and who have achieved a place at a higher education institution."

Hay horror man back on the farm

MOVING UP A GEAR: Robert Field, top, in his tractor

By KATE TURNER

A FARM worker left paralysed after being crushed by a one-ton bale of hay has gone back to work on a specially-adapted tractor.

Robert Field, 23, broke his back, fractured his jaw and severed a main artery after the bale fell on him while he was working at Shuttleworth House Farm, Hapton, in September 2007.

Robert, of Cornfield Grove, Burnley, vowed to work again after the accident happened, and he has now been able to realise that dream after he paid to have his JCB Loadall adapted so he can carry out farming duties arou-nd his family farm.

And now he has set his sights on building a specially-adapted house on family land and is hoping to apply to Channel 4's show Grand Designs to chart the progress of the build.

Robert, who went to Wellfield Primary School and Ivy Bank High School, both Burn-ley, was airlifted to the Royal Preston Hospital after the accident.

He had his left leg amputated below the thigh and steel rods inserted into his back to help stabilise it, made what doctors called a 'miraculous recovery' despite initial fears he would die.

He was treated in the spinal injury unit at Southport and Formby District General Hospital after being trans-ferred from Preston and now relies on a wheelchair to get around. Although Robert can now carry out duties at his farm he is unable to return to work full time.

He said: "Adapting the Loadall has meant I'm able to do some more jobs around the farm and gives me something to get up in the morning for.

"I can feed the cows, move bales of hay and do the usual farming jobs.

"I found it very frustrating when I had to watch other people working and I couldn't do anything. I'm hoping to get another tractor adapted soon so I can do other jobs around the farm like muck-spreading and mowing."

He was allowed to return home for Christmas two years ago, and since has staged two equestrian fundraising days.

SCREEN TEST: Andy Morgan, right, and at one his chosen locations, Rivington Reservoir

We've scene that before!

AN East Lancashire film and TV location manager is putting the region on the map after getting his break making Peter Kay's tea.

Andy Morgan, originally from Burnley, chooses the settings for major TV productions, music videos and films.

The former Worsthorne Primary and St Theodore's Secondary School pupil said he has a photographic memory and enjoyed driving across the north west scouting for places to bring to life on the small screen.

Andy, 32, arranged for BBC1's big-budget post-apocolyptic series Survivors to be filmed in Rawtenstall, using the 'spooky environment' of the old hospital, closing off Bank Street and an old shopping precinct.

He said getting to look behind the scenes of venues such as the MEN Arena and the Trafford Centre and was one of the best bits of the job, but he also loved to show inner-city producers the rural delights of East Lancashire.

"Directors all like big landscapes. People are so used to working in London that they don't realise that within 30 minutes of Manchester or Leeds you've got incredible scenery. I love to get up on top of Grane Road where it's quite deserted and in the middle of nowhere.

"I'm one of the first to get a script and then start breaking it down, looking for locations which are aesthetically pleasing for TV, are accessible and within budget."

Andy helped create smash hit Life on Mars after reading the script for the first series and showing the producers round Manchester. His first job after university was as a runner on Phoenix Nights, aged 22.

'Year of success' for our hospitals

THE chairman of East Lancashire Hospitals has says she is confident the trust can look forward to a "highly successful" 12 months this year.

Hazel Harding said two new hi-tech developments would boost services for patients.

But she admitted after a challenging 2009 that directors would face another year of financial worry. She said: "The trust's second cardiac catheter lab will open at the Royal Blackburn Hospital in spring, allowing cardiologists to perform procedures which are at present only available in Blackpool and Manchester's specialist heart units.

HAZEL HARDING

"The second development of 2010 will be the opening of the £32 million Women and Newborns Unit at the Burnley General Hospital."

'Bags charge' plan support

Coun John Jones (right) has won the backing of council colleagues for a motion urging borough stores to impose a 3p charge for all plastic bags. Councillors also urged shoppers to support various permanent bag initiatives.

1,300 new jobs on the way

ONE of the biggest office developments in East Lancashire will create around 1,300 new jobs.

The announcement for land off the Fence bypass at Barrowford has been welcomed by business leaders as a 'hugely important' boost.

They believe it is a clear sign that the East Lancashire economy could be seeing the first green shoots of recovery. Investment giant Peel Holdings, which operates the Trafford Centre, Manchester, is behind the scheme, just off junction 13 of the M65.

The first phase of the Riverside Business Park development, behind Nelson and Colne College, is already under construction. But another nine business courts, each containing between one and five buildings, will be constructed around a main trunk road. The plans had initially been put on hold at the start of the recession, the firm said but an application has now been submitted to Pendle Council.

Coun Mohammed Iqbal, a Pendle county and borough councillor, hailed the potential at the Barrowford development. He said: "This is an important site and I welcome this level of investment in Pendle. It is quite a large site and the potential for it is enormous. Clearly this would have a knock-on effect for traffic, which needs to be considered."

The news comes as further progress has been made over another development. Crunch talks between British Waterways and Lancashire County Council are taking place over a new bridge across the Leeds Liverpool Canal. The move would give the go-ahead to plans for a new business park at the former Hepworths in Hapton, called Burnley Bridge, which could create 1,600 jobs.

Police tackle tipping

POLICE in Burnley have pledged to tackle fly tipping and the problem of dirty back yards in the Bankhall ward.

Residents reported the problems to police at a recent police and communities together meeting where it was agreed that more robust action was needed to solve the continuing problem.

Officers have started to carry out high visibility patrols in the ward and residents have been encouraged to continue providing information about those responsible to the authorities.

The council has also stated that it will remove rubbish and take necessary action against offenders.

To report a case of fly-tipping call 01282 425011.

'Magic' guest stars on Merlin

Actor Colin Morgan, 23, is most famous for playing the title role in the BBC adventure series Merlin. He was born in Armagh, Northern Ireland. The second series of Merlin recently ended on BBC One, and will be out on DVD in February. A third series has been commissioned.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... COLIN MORGAN

HOW DID WORKING ON THE SECOND SERIES OF MERLIN COMPARE TO THE FIRST RUN?
When we first started on the series, filming was new to me. So whenever you start on a second series you're familiar with the technical things. Also there's the character – you know how to approach a scene, you know how to work with other actors. You also become a bit more confident with the guest stars, even though the guest stars we get coming in, you sort of pinch yourself sometimes.

WHO DID YOU PARTICULARLY ENJOY WORKING WITH?
Charles Dance was brilliant. He played the Witchfinder in one of the episodes and he just had a lot of fun with it – and was genuinely quite intimidating. Mackenzie Crook was great in the first episode. I had a lot of fun with him because he had a lot of fun with the role. The guest star in the final episode, John Lynch, was probably my favourite because I got to work with him quite a lot.

DO YOU OFTEN WATCH MERLIN TO EXAMINE YOUR PERFORMANCE?
I think you shouldn't really try to do that, because so much stuff is done in post-production with Merlin, in terms of special effects and music. When you watch it back you're often seeing yourself in a scene with a monster, or creature, that obviously wasn't there when you were doing it.

IS IT DIFFICULT ACTING TO A GREEN SCREEN SO MUCH OF THE TIME?
It depends. I've got a lot of scenes with a dragon, and now that I know what the dragon looks like, and because I do it so many times, that's definitely easier.

Lining

Get your laughing gear ready for the new season of shows at Burnley Mechanics — because you'll need it.

With Julian Clary, Katy Brand's Big Ass Show, The Hairy Bikers, Sean Lock, Ruby Wax and Tim Vine appearing at Burnley Mechanics this spring, you'll be stitching your sides up until summer.

Double entendres and innuendoes will be the order of the day when self-proclaimed "lord of the mince" Julian Clary comes to the theatre on Thursday, March 11 to celebrate 25 years in the camp spotlight.

Tim Vine's joke-amotive chugs into town on Wednesday, March 3, and every carriage is packed full of one liner gags.

Join stars of BBC2, the Hairy Bikers for an evening of cooking, chatting and laughs, on Thursday, March 4.

Comic Katy Brand is taking her Big Ass on tour and will be popping into Burnley on Monday, May 24. Expect an evening of anarchic comedy, celebrity satire, and musical spoofs.

Is Ruby Wax losing it? That's the question she asks in her hilarious new stand-up show on Thursday, May 6. Ruby had it all – career, dream house, husband, kids – but people soon realised something was wrong when she painted her house the same colour 'beige' for the 47th time. There was only one thing for it – send her to the Priory!

On my way to a lecture!

On New Years Eve Fred was in no shape to drive,
Left his van in the car park, it was nearly five.
As he stumbled along he was stopped by the police,
He looked very suspicious in his bright green Asda fleece.
"Where are you going this timme of the morning?" the policemen said.
"I'm on my way to a lecture," slurred Fred.
"Huh, who on earth is going to give a lecture at this time on New Years Eve?"
My wife said Fred, dead scared, "now do you believe?"
